

Annual General Meet

Students NS

(July 28-30)

The Annual General Meet of Student NS, a collective of four schools passionate about student advocacy, took place from July 28th to July 30th at Cape Breton University. This event served as a vital platform for like-minded students from different institutions to come together, share ideas, and develop effective strategies to amplify their voices and address pressing issues in education.

Throughout the conference, attendees engaged in intensive strategic planning sessions, fostering an atmosphere of collaboration and collective intelligence. With representatives from each school contributing their unique perspectives, the discussions revolved around identifying common challenges faced by students and formulating innovative solutions to address them.

The event provided a forum for student leaders to express their concerns, aspirations, and grievances openly, creating a conducive environment for meaningful group discussions. Emphasis was placed on establishing actionable goals, allowing each school to align its efforts towards creating a positive impact on the students of Nova Scotia.

Topics ranging from Policy, Research, PSE, Tuition, MSI were meticulously analyzed and addressed. Participants explored ways to collaborate with government bodies, and community stakeholders, seeking to bridge gaps and effect positive change for the student community.

The Annual General Meet not only enhanced the collective understanding of the challenges faced by students but also forged lasting connections among the four schools.

By fostering a sense of unity and common purpose, Student NS solidified its position as a potent force in advocating for student rights and welfare.

As the conference ended, a comprehensive action plan was adopted, outlining the key initiatives and strategies to be pursued collectively in the upcoming academic year. With renewed determination and a unified vision, Student NS departed Cape Breton University, ready to bring about tangible improvements in the student experience and make a lasting impact on their campuses and society as a whole.

Sahilpreet Singh Chatha
President & CEO, CBUSU